Thursday, April 8-p. m. Business in the security market continues disappointingly small and wholly professional, but values are gradually recovering the losses sustained on the decline following the Trans-Misscuri Supreme Court decision, and there is nothing in the present situation which offers a faverable opportunity for bear ma ipulation. The settlem at of the Jersey Central dividend ended bear operations in the anthracite shares, and the passing of the scare over the traffic situation as regards rates left the speculative situation free adverse features accountable for recent declines have practically ceased to exist, favorable influences have developed daily, and though they heve not brought back public support to the stock market they have restrained professional traders from further attacks upon values and encouraged caution among operators who practise short selling. It is not improbable that a tise short selling. It is not improbable that a pronounced upward movement will again attract substantial buying from commission-house customers and other interests. To-day's market was a continuation of yesterday's, extreme dulness prevailing in all save a few shares, and prices working slowly upward, with the principal strength in Sugar Refining. Chicago Gas, the Granger shares, Jersey Central, Louisville and Nashville, Urited States Leather preferred and Western Union. Sugar Refining was active, and on manipulation advanced 2½ per cent, and Chicago Gas, on inside buying, made a net gain of nearly 2 per cent. Throughout the list there was active covering by the shorts, and the general course of prices reflected the retreat of bear operators and their awakening to the fact that in their recent operations they very much misjudged the general situation. Strength in local gas stocks was again a feature of trading, both on the Exchange and among brokers on the outside. The entire market closed strong at substantial net gains. The London market was irr roved to-day, a reduction in the Bank of England's minimum discount rate to 2½ per cent, and the ease in all departments of the money market, contributing to higher prices, especiall, in corsols. The continued ease in foreign money rates and the lowering of the Bank of England rate are encouraging, as reflecting an easier feeling in financial circles over the situation in the East. United States Government 4 per cents of 1925 are now selling at the highest price yet reached. pronounced upward movement will again attract reached.
